WNCC has established alternative business locations for use during any significant business disruption at its main offices, and believes that such locations will be adequate to support its critical business functions, including conducting any customer transactions and satisfying all regulatory requirements, until the main office is available for use or new permanent facilities are established. The scope of any business disruption will determine the length of time business may be conducted from such alternate locations.

Disruptions may be relatively limited in scope and impact only our business offices for a brief period, or events such as natural disasters could be regional in scope and cause disruption for many days. Our plan in the event of such disruption is to quickly recover and resume business operations, safeguard our employees and property, make a financial and operational assessment, protect the firm's books and records, and allow our clients to transact business. WNCC will review its plan annually to assure that it remains current and effective retaining the discretion to modify its Business Continuity Plan from time to time as it deems prudent.
